

AES Certified: The Best in Environmental Services

At AES Certified, we are committed to delivering the safest, most cost effective solutions for your environmental and remediation needs. Our core values reflect our passion for excellence and drive us to meet every waste management need and desire of our customers.

Our team of health and safety experts coordinates with our operations personnel to ensure adherence to all safety training and certification objectives, compliance and toward a work environment that is zero risk and incident free.

We Turn Brownfields Green

AES Certified specializes in the assessment and remediation of soil and groundwater contamination. Our expert personnel have extensive experience with environmental projects from start to finish, providing exceptional customer support along the way.

Our whole philosophical approach for what we do centers around integrating sustainable and economical practices and solutions. We understand that when we can incorporate sustainability into all levels of our environmental services, not only does our client benefit but so does our community.

If you have a brownfield property in need of expert restoration or any other environmental service need, please contact AES Certified today. Our aim is to be your trusted name in the industry by offering remediation services that exceed your expectations. Read more about AES Certified.

